

Kentico Getting Started

Consulting Services

Initial Agenda

0. Environment setup

- Web server setup – IIS installation & configuration,
- SQL server setup – SQL server installation & configuration,
- SQL database backup setup – automatic backup scheduling configuration,
- Kentico CMS setup - installation & configuration,
- Staging & Production environment setup – Content staging module configuration,
- Web farm setup – web farm support configuration,
- Development environment setup – TFS configuration,

1. Kentico basics

- Overview - CMS Desk UI,
- Overview - CMS Site manager UI,
- Overview - Kentico modules and functionality,
- Basic principles of content editing in Kentico CMS,

2. Analysis & Design with Kentico CMS

- Content tree,
- Page templates,
- Document types –including document management internals,
- Organizing media files – document attachments vs. CMS.Files vs. media libraries,

3. Development with Kentico CMS

- Team development setup –multi-developer multi-stage development environment,
- Graphic and Index.htm template processing – transferring output from designers into Kentico CMS,
- Transferring static HTML into dynamic content,
- Page template development,
- Custom doc types – defining custom scheme for content,
- Transformations – different ways on displaying document content on the live site,
- Customization options – integration points,
- Custom web part development,
- Security basics,
- Website optimization,

4. Deployment

- Production environment configuration,
- Deployment options,
- Deployment and post-deployment actions.

NOTE: Outlined agenda is used as a starting point for Getting Started Consulting engagements. If one or several topics are not relevant to your project, we can replace these with a more pertinent agenda. Any supplemental information you can provide of a technical nature engagement, scope of the project and/or technical aptitude of the participants, is appreciated to ensure the greatest value for your Getting Started Consulting, as it may help us tailor the engagement to focus on areas that are of significant importance to you.